

TONIGHT COULD BE THE NIGHT

(Keith Abler)

Something, something's happening
Something' is coming into view
Sunlight in motion
It carries the shadow through.

Shuffle, bushes rustling
Light wind takes me out of view
Redundant in feeling
Something has touched my cheek.

Ease your way across the floor
Cause tonight could easily be the night.
You look so beautiful in the soft candle light
The banquet meal you made
Just couldn't have been more right.

Saving that best wine from the cellar
This is an occasion to remember.
I couldn't have planned it better
If it had to be a photograph.

Something, something's happening